The Leicester and Leicestershire Dementia Support Service, delivered by Alzheimer's Society, offers free information, advice, and support to people affected by dementia across Leicester and Leicestershire. This includes those experiencing memory loss, living with a diagnosis, and family members and carers who support them.

Registered charity no. 296645. Alzheimer's Society operates in England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

At Leicester and Leicestershire Dementia Support Service, we are here to support you, whatever stage of your dementia journey you are at. We offer information, advice, and emotional support to help you remain independent for as long as possible.

We can also connect you with other local services to ensure you receive the right support for your individual needs.

We can help by:

- Providing information about memory problems, dementia, and the assessment process
- Offering emotional support and a listening ear
- Helping you understand what support is available locally
- Providing advice on maintaining independence and wellbeing
- Supporting family members, friends, and carers who may have questions or concerns

We also offer a range of friendly and engaging activity groups, support groups, and opportunities for people living with dementia and their carers across Leicester and Leicestershire.

You do not need a diagnosis of dementia to access our free service.
